

Terms of use

We are happy to welcome you on LABPLAS INC.'s website. Usage of this website is regulated by the conditions displayed below. We ask that you carefully read this document before consulting this website. The information and files, including PDF files, provided by LABPLAS INC. shall not be utilised other than for informational purposes. When visiting, accessing uploading or downloading data on this website, you commit to respecting the conditions hereby formulated, all of which are applicable to all visitors of LABPLAS INC.'s website. The website can be reviewed and the conditions changed at any given time. We demand that you visit from time to time this page to acknowledge and agree upon any update made since your last visit. If you do not comply with the terms of use, we ask that you do not consult this website.

Intellectual property

The content, display, elements of every page, written documents, texts, graphics, logos, software, database, icons, pictures, video and audio clips as well as the organisation, assembly, compilation, magnetic translation, digital conversion or any other subject with regards to the website are the exclusive property of LABPLAS INC. and are hereby protected by intellectual property, trademarks and any other protection provided by applicable laws in Canada and worldwide. Copy, distribution, usage or publications by the user of such content or part of are strictly forbidden.

LABPLAS INC. claims ownership on all brands and trademarks found on this website, regardless of the trademark's registration or lack of. Any usage of brand names, trademarks, patents, industrial drawings or any other form of intellectual property belonging to LABPLAS INC. in relation with a product or service not owned by LABPLAS INC., unless it has been authorized by contract or written license, will constitute a violation of intellectual property of LABPLAS INC., who could institute legal proceedings based on intellectual property laws in Canada and/or worldwide with similar laws in other countries.

Review, suppression and modification of the website's data

LABPLAS INC. reserves the right at his own discretion to review or delete any of the website's content or information or to suppress any good or service displayed on its website without notice. No commitment or warranty of any kind shall be made with regards to the correction, the harmonisation, the credibility, the update, the completion, the termination, the convenience or the validity of the information regardless of the situation.

The available information on this website is provided as is and any warranty, explicit or implicit (including warranties of commercial nature, fit for a particular purpose, of non-violation of intellectual property or resulting in usage), is rejected. The information could contain mistakes or problems. LABPLAS INC. holds no responsibility with regards to any incorrect information, regardless of the reason, and any prejudice and damage that follows, be it direct or indirect, special, accidental or collateral, based on a contract, a violation of any warranty, civil liability including negligence, from vicarious liability, from goods or for any other reason and whether LABPLAS INC. has been warned or not of the possibility or anticipation of such damage.

For any up-to-date information, in case of doubt, please contact directly LABPLAS INC. by phone (+1450-649-7343) or by mail at labplas@labplas.com.

Usage of information and data collection

LABPLAS INC. reserves the right, and the user authorises LABPLAS INC. to take and transfer any information related to the usage of this website by the user and any information provided by the user, within the boundaries of the applicable laws. Furthermore, LABPLAS INC. reserves the right to copy and distribute to third parties any information related to system activities with aim to analyse, control and improve the quality, security and information provided by LABPLAS INC.'s website.

Any comment, information or document submitted to LABPLAS INC. by means of this website will be considered the property of LABPLAS INC. By submitting such comments, information or documents to LABPLAS INC., you agree to a transfer without costs to LABPLAS INC. the worldwide right to use, copy, modify, expose and distribute the submitted elements. LABPLAS INC. can use such comments, information or documents in any way it chooses and without limitation.

General liability exemption

Whether by browsing, downloading or uploading any file or data, in engaging in any form of communication or any use of any kind of the website, LABPLAS INC. will not be held responsible for breakdowns and failures, for infection or corruption of your technological devices by viruses/spyware/malware or loss of data related to the website's usage, LABPLAS INC. will not be held responsible for any damage, by its doing, yours or by a third party, be it direct or indirect, collateral, special, punitive or for any prejudice that you could be subjected to in relation with the website, regardless of its nature.

Liability exemption with regards to performance and accessibility

No warranty of any kind shall be made with regards to the website's performance, stability and accessibility. LABPLAS INC. will not be held responsible for any damage, by its doing, yours or by a third party, be it direct or indirect, collateral, special, punitive or for any prejudice that you could be subjected to in relation with the website's performance, stability and accessibility.

Exemption with regards to hyperlinks

LABPLAS INC.'s website does not contain any hyperlink directing you to an external website. In case of a browsing session on LABPLAS INC.'s website that would lead to an external source, whether from a broken or hacked internal link, from a virus, a spyware or a malware or for any other reason, LABPLAS INC. never endorses the content of those external websites or the resulting damage from those hyperlinks and external websites. LABPLAS rejects any responsibility if a website on which you are redirected contains shocking, criminal or illegal content.

Website shutdown

In case of a website shutdown, the restrictions with regards to documents displayed on the website as well as any commitment and warranty, indemnity, and limitation of liability stated in the current terms of use will remain applicable even after such termination.

Applicable laws

Any dispute involving the validity, the nullification, the nullity, the interpretation, the execution, the breach, the prorogation or the interruption of the terms of use shall be submitted to the application of the civil law from Quebec and resolved by the competent courts of the province of Quebec, Canada.

Final provisions

If provisions from the terms of use were to be considered non applicable, illegal or invalid for any reason, the said provisions shall not invalidate the other clauses of the terms of use. These clauses represent the agreement's entirety between LABPLAS INC. and its website users.